BROCHURE

Our Participation Platform allows you to:

Engage with citizens through a participation portal where they can:

- Interact online with their fellow citizens through consultations and community spaces
- Be consulted by public administrations on certain subjects and, in turn, can also ask questions to their representatives
- Report a problem on the public network (an act of vandalism, a damaged road, etc.)

Make informed decisions with insight from those who count:

- Guarantees more transparent, responsible and effective communication by informing citizens of the decisions taken, their implementation, and their follow-up
- Builds a consensus between administration and citizens through collective decision-making
- Helps you adapt your political agenda by listening to topics that directly affect citizens

“ We work with ScytI to offer citizens, civil society organizations, and public institutions a platform that allows them to share their project ideas... This platform has facilitated the collection of more than 183 proposals which were discussed face to face during workshops, as well as on social networks.”

Online consultations framed by law

The promotion of participatory democracy aims to engage citizens individually in public discourse. ScytI provides an electronic consultation tool where citizens express their opinion in a process framed by law, securely, accessibly, and remotely voting via the Internet or on site voting kiosks.

Online deliberation

ScytI offers an online platform for managing municipal councils and their online voting processes, allowing members to vote on all agenda items from their preferred device. The adoption of deliberations thus becomes easy, both for the organizers and for the participants.
